Research Proposal for MPhil/PhD Program

The candidate shall prepare a proposal on what he/she decided to explore. This is the architectural design of contributing something original to the world of knowledge through the proposed research. Therefore, the candidates need to develop a write-up what is called MPhil/PhD proposal. The main components of the proposal as is generally expected by the University decision taking bodies, viz. Research Higher Degree Committee, School’s Research Degree Committee, School Committee, Admission Committee and Academic Council. The Research Proposal should be between 3000-5000 words. It should contain the following:

1 Title:
The proposal should have a proposed research title which would be free from pre-decided terms.

2 Introduction:
The introduction should have a broad description of proposed Research Work. This section also explains important concepts in the study.

3 Literature review and Justification of Study:
The proposal should have review of some important and related published works and analysis of the existing materials in the context of the current study. This section of the proposal establishes the rationale for undertaking the study in the background of work done on that theme or the logic of the originality of your research work and it also identifies gaps in the knowledge and justifies the need for the present study.

4 Aims and objectives:
The proposal must have the broad aims of the study and also the specific objectives.

5 Hypothesis
The proposal should state the hypothesis, if any, which the research intends to examine. In case the study does not contain explicit hypothesis it may be mentioned so. The Research Higher Degree Committee may exempt this section if the hypotheses are not yet developed at this stage.

6 Research Methods
The proposal should have a paragraph on the Research Methodology what are proposed to use in the current research. This section will have:
- Method
- Sampling and population
- Reliability and validity
- Tools and techniques for data analysis

7 Analysis and Interpretations
This section will provide analytical directions and possible interpretations for the current research.

8 Implications
This section directs implications of the research in the real world and policy developments.

9 Bibliography and references
Selected list of references used and proposed for the study should be mentioned (use more space if needed).

Candidate’s signature: The candidate shall sign the proposal in every page
Supervisor’s Signature: The supervisor of the research degree program shall recommend and sign the proposal in every page

N.B: it is reported that the scanned signature will not be accepted.
